

Is A Letter Of Engagement A Contract

Select Download Format:

Typically, an engagement letter is a contract between a client and a professional, such as a lawyer, accountant, or architect. It outlines the scope of the engagement, the fees, and the responsibilities of both parties. While it is a contract, it is not a legal contract in the same sense as a contract for goods or services. It is a contract of professional services, which means it is subject to the rules of professional conduct and ethics. The letter is typically signed by both parties and serves as a record of the agreed-upon terms of the engagement.
